

Academic Technology Services

25 October 1999

Academic Technology Services recommends to ACPAC that the ACPAC recommended workstation configurations be reviewed each academic semester and changed as appropriate.

The minimum standard should reflect the capability to utilize the current standard software and network utilities as indicated by the standard academic desktop in the University Computer Labs.

The New Purchase standard shall reflect the current market.