TikTok - Chinese company ByteDance

Privacy concerns:

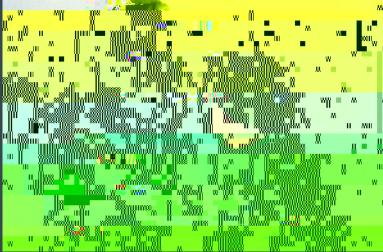

China's national security law requires companies to turn over customer data if requested by Beijing "TikTok has never shared, or received a request to share, U.S. user data with the Chinese government," "Nor would TikTok honor such a request if one were ever made." Spreading Pro-Chinese propaganda

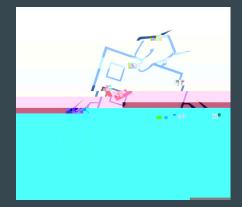

Data Security In the hands of Meta vs Alphabet vs TikTok In December 2022, the company admitted that employees had spied on reporters using location data, in an attempt to track down the source of leaked information. TikTok also reportedly planned to surveil the locations of specific U.S. citizens using location data from their devices, Forbes reported last October.
