

University of California
San Diego

Department of Psychology
3521 La Jolla Village Drive
San Diego, CA 92161

Psychology 035 - Introduction to Psychology

Section 001 - Lecture

Prerequisites:

Course Description:

Psychology 035 is a required course for all psychology majors. It provides a broad overview of the field of psychology, covering topics such as the history and foundations of psychology, biological bases of behavior, learning, motivation, and development.

Course Objectives:

1. Understand the scientific method and its application to psychology.

2. Describe the major areas of psychology and their contributions to our understanding of human behavior.

New Number and Full Title

Course Number and Full Title

Course Number and Full Title

PROGRAM:

Psychology

ivimoi

New Program*

Director

last (where applicable) applicable

Part II Description of the Curriculum Change

1) New catalog description.

RP 350 Introduction to Planning

3-0-3

Introduction to the planning process, including the role of the planner, the planning process, and the planning profession. This course is required for the Urban and Environmental Planning program.

Students will be able to:

- 1. Identify the role of the planner in the planning process.
- 2. Explain the planning process and the planning profession.
- 3. Analyze the planning process and the planning profession.

Prerequisites: None

Course Description

This course is an introduction to the planning process and the planning profession.

The course covers the role of the planner, the planning process, and the planning profession. It also covers the history of planning and the current issues in the field.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

- 1. Identify the role of the planner in the planning process.
- 2. Explain the planning process and the planning profession.
- 3. Analyze the planning process and the planning profession.

Course Content

- 1. The role of the planner in the planning process.
- 2. The planning process and the planning profession.
- 3. The history of planning and the current issues in the field.

This change will affect the following courses:

RP 350. The course number has been changed to RP 350.