

1. Course Description: This course is designed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the history and development of the United States. It covers the major events, figures, and movements that have shaped the nation from its founding to the present day. The course is structured to provide a chronological overview of American history, with a focus on the social, political, and cultural changes that have defined the country.

2. Learning Objectives: Upon completion of this course, students will be able to identify the major events and figures in American history, understand the social, political, and cultural changes that have shaped the nation, and analyze the impact of these changes on the development of the United States. The course is designed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the history and development of the United States, covering the major events, figures, and movements that have shaped the nation from its founding to the present day.

3. Course Content: The course content is organized into several major units, each focusing on a different period in American history. The units include the Founding Era, the Antebellum Period, the Civil War and Reconstruction, the Gilded Age and Progressive Era, and the Modern Era. Each unit covers the major events, figures, and movements that have shaped the nation during that period.

4. Assessment: The course is assessed through a combination of quizzes, exams, and a final paper. The quizzes and exams are designed to test students' knowledge of the major events and figures in American history, while the final paper is designed to assess students' ability to analyze the impact of these changes on the development of the United States.

5. Additional Information: This course is a required course for all students in the History Department. It is a prerequisite for several other courses in the department, including American History II and American History III. The course is taught by Professor [Name], who has a Ph.D. in History from [University].

6. Signature: The course is approved by the Learning Council. The signature of the Learning Council member is [Signature].

7. Additional Information: This course is a required course for all students in the History Department. It is a prerequisite for several other courses in the department, including American History II and American History III. The course is taught by Professor [Name], who has a Ph.D. in History from [University].

This course is designed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the history and development of the United States. It covers the major events, figures, and movements that have shaped the nation from its founding to the present day.

Additional signature (with title) as appropriate
UW-MCC Chair

UW-MCC
Learning Council

Part II - Description of Curriculum Change

[REDACTED]